THE DUROC-JERSEY

It seems to be well authenticated that the exact origin or early history of the Red Hog, now recorded as Duroc-Jersey, is not positively known. Many are of the opinion that they are strictly American bred, while we have gathered much information pointing toward stock that was imported at an early date. It is now conceded by all who are interested in this popular breed of swine that there were two families of them in earlier years, one known as Jersey Reds, and the other as Durocs. The name Jersey Red was probably given to this family by Joseph B. Lyman, who at that time resided in New Jersey and was the agricultural editor of the New York Tribune. Previous to this, the breed had been called Red Hogs.

Mr. Lippencott of New Jersey was the first person to advertise these hogs as Jersey Reds. We find in Clark Pettit's History of Jersey Reds, that in the year 1832 there was a pair of red pigs shipped from England to Salem, N. J., and he says: "Their unique color rendered them objects of special interest in a locality long noted for successful swine breeders and feeders, among whom had long existed a great spirit of rivalry as to whom should annually win the honor of raising the best lot of hogs, making the greatest average weight at different ages, for which prominent Philadelphia butchers paid advanced prices." The Duroc family of Red Hogs were so called by Isaac Frink, a farmer living in the town of Milton, Saratoga County, N. Y. In the spring of 1832 Mr. Frink took a mare to a noted stallion, Duroc, then owned by Harry Kelsey, in the town of Florida, N. Y., about twenty-five miles away, and he saw a litter of ten red pigs, the production of a pair of red pigs brought here by Mr. Kelsey from Oyster Bay, N. Y., or imported by him from England. He moved from Oyster Bay to Florida. In regard to the importance of the pigs, the history is not authentic, although Mr. Kelsey told Mr. Frink that they were imported, but the term imported may have been improperly used, as is often the case, even at this late date. The production of these pigs was much sought after, and assumed the name of Mr. Kelsey's famous stallion, and spread all through the New England states, becoming very popular on account of their great qualities. In 1830 William Ensign of Wilbur's Basin, in the town of Stillwater, brought a pair of red hogs from Connecticut and in the next year he got a few more from the same place. He bred and sold them far and near. The Frink and Ensign families of Red Hogs were crossed and bred to advantage, and have been bred ever since with more or less effort toward keeping them thoroughbred, but no model or type was followed except individual ones. These hogs, according to what information we can get, possessed more of the character of the Jersey Red family, except that they were not so large and were rather finer boned. Thomas Bennett, of Rossville, Ill., through correspondence with the Honorable Cassius N. Clay, of White Hall, Ky., the honorable gentleman says: "that the Spanish hogs were imported by Honorable J. B. Clay, from Spain or Portugal, when minister to Lisbon, under Zachary Taylor in 1850. He gave me a pair of the progeny of which I widely distributed." About the year 1882 the first association was organized to perpetuate the records of the Duroc, while in 1891 the National Association was organized and incorporated, with J. M. Stonebraker as president, and J. W. Phillippo as secretary. On April 10, 1893, the resignation of Mr. Phillippo as secretary was accepted and Robert J. Evans was elected secretary, remaining such until June 8, 1906, when H. C. Sheldon was elected, and remained secretary until December 2, 1909, when the present secretary was elected.

No characteristic of our breed is more pronounced at the present time or perhaps no other has been of so much value to our breed in making them popular as that of being prolific. Years ago, when our breed was in its infancy, breeders of other breeds turned to us on account of the great prolificacy of the Duroc sows. The conformation of our breed has been greatly improved with recent years, but this improvement has been brought about without sacrificing any of the prolificacy. In fact, our records show that the Duroc sows are more prolific today than they were twenty years ago. Out of a record of 4,800 litters in Volume No. 44 of our Herd Book, they show an average of 9.43 pigs to the litter. In fact, some criticize our breed on account of the sows farrowing larger litters than it is possible for the sow to raise. We think this is a very good criticism. Recent reports from one of the leading agricultural experiment stations states that thirteen Duroc sows farrowed 132 live pigs, raising 101 of them, a much larger average than did any of the other breeds owned by this college. The excessive hardiness of our breed is one of the characteristics conceded to us by most raisers of other breeds of hogs. The pigs when farrowed are exceedingly strong and active and so are able to withstand many hardships that animals of weaker constitutions could not withstand. It is a very common occurence for a Duroc sow to raise ten strong pigs at a litter. The feeding qualities of our breed are one of our most boasted assets. The Michigan Agricultural College makes us a table showing that for 4.65 pounds of grain fed to Durocs they produced a gain of 2.59 pounds per day for 168 days, and the animals at the close of the said period were showing splendid gains and gave promise that they could make similar gains for an extended period of time, while the closest breed compared showed 5.22 pounds of grain for 2.11 pounds of gain. Owing to the conformation and hardiness of our breed they are capable of making profitable gains where animals of other breeds would not be profitable, on account of our animals being able to convert into pork more grasses and rough feed than most other breeds.

In the conformation of the Duroc there is everything that is for the purpose of converting grains and grasses into pork. They have good feet, short pasterns, heavy bone, all necessary to carry the animal to market or to carry it about the farm, gathering up the waste feeds, which otherwise would be lost. His high arched back, his large heart girth and wide spring of ribs gives room for the development of the organs that will convert grains and grasses into pork. The broad head indicates nerve power and feeding type, with bright eye and ear not too large, allows the animal to rustle in the feed lots and in the pasture to good advantage.

The above characteristics adapt the Duroc for any locality. In the far north of Canada he converts the small grain into as high-grade pork as any breed, with a much larger per cent of profit. He is proving a favorite in the hills of New England on account of his ruggedness and power to convert their by-products into fancy hams and premium bacon. No part of the country has afforded him such a welcome as the far South, where the cotton and sugar cane planters are fast becoming producers of pork, and the Duroc has proven that he will withstand the severe heat and convert the alfalfa, peanuts, oats and wheat into pork for the Fort Worth market, with a handsome return for labor and capital invested. Across the Rocky mountains the alfalfa and small grain farmers are fast realizing that the Duroc can be raised with a handsome profit on the crops they raise, saving them the expense of shipping thousands of head each year from the corn belt to supply their markets.

The interest in Duroc does not stop with our border, but extends into Australia and South American countries, which are only in their infancy as to producing pork. The present popularity of our breed, which includes, on good authority, 75 per cent of the hogs raised, is due to the fact that our breed has proven profitable to the farmer. The farmer raises the kind of hogs that are most profitable to him in the majority of cases. He demands an animal with constitution sufficient to withstand the ordinary conditions which surround him and at the same time be able to convert the products of his farm into pork at a profit. In addition to raising a large litter of pigs, a young Duroc sow will make a splendid growth, so that when the litter is weaned she can be easily finished for the market. It is quite a compliment to a feeder to be able to top the market when his hogs are sold, but many times the market topping animals are not the animals produced at the most profit to the farmer. On account of the ruggedness and capacity for handling rough feed, the Duroc makes splendid growth at an early age. The engine in the hog which converts grain and grasses into pork is largely offal at the abattoir, but by breeding an animal with a smaller engine you decrease the capacity for converting large quantities of rough feed into pork, and thus reduce the profit on the animal. At the recent International Live Stock Show it was very noticeable in the class for grand champion, the Duroc barrow of practically the same age as his competitors was at least 200 pounds the heavier, which on the scales that day would have meant at least $16.00 more value. Farmers are raising hogs for the money they will bring and the Duroc has proven on all occasions his ability to produce pork at a profit.

A WORLD RECORD

In 1913 and 1914 the Agricultural College of North Dakota has been conducting "Pork Producing Contests" under the direction of Thomas P. Cooper with phenomenal results.

In the 1914 contest Miss Barrett carried off first honors with a litter of Duroc Jersey pigs eligible to be recorded, making a record by far the best of which we can find any records for producing pounds of pork with one litter of pigs in a given time. Below is the story of the litter which has been certified to by two disinterested parties.

MISS ANNA BARRETT
Larimore, N. Dakota
The World's Greatest Pig Grower in 1914

Presented by National Duroc-Jersey Record Association to Miss Anna Barrett, for Best Record Made in Pig Growing Contest, 1914

THE STORY

The litter was farrowed April 27th, 1914, there were 14 pigs all raised. Their dam was sired by Buffalo King 133141 and dam was Mae's Faithful 3d 393454 and the litter was sired by Litchville 151155. For the first two weeks after farrowing the sow was fed 6 pounds of ground oats, ground barley and bran mixed equal parts in a thick slop. During the third week the sow and litter were turned on a one-acre pasture of blue grass. This pasture was continued up to the middle of October. The third week, the bran was replaced with an equal amount of shorts. The oats were increased to 4 pounds during the fourth week, the shorts to 4 pounds the fifth week, and the seventh week the ration was changed as follows: 6 pounds corn, 12 pounds barley and 12 pounds oats, 50 pounds of milk per day. The eleventh week, this was discontinued and the pigs received 49 pounds of screenings per day, together with weeds pulled from the garden and thrown over the fence. This latter method of feeding was continued from the latter part of June to the first part of September. In addition to the screenings, beginning with September 7th, the pigs were fed 40 pounds of corn a day. The feeding of weeds has been discontinued the week previous. Up to this time they had been given ashes regularly. The week of September 19th, 18 pounds of oats per day was substituted for the corn, which was continued for two weeks, at the end of which time the ration was again changed to include 28 pounds of corn a day. This was in addition to the regular feed of 40 pounds of screenings a day, mentioned previously. The ration was continued up to the time the pigs were weighed, November 21st.

Altogether the pigs were fed 21 bushels of corn at 50c per bushel, 14 bushels of barley at 45c per bushel, 20 bushels of oats at 30c per bushel, 2 tons and 765 pounds of screenings at $10.00 per ton, 86 pounds of shorts, and 28 pounds of bran at $19.00 per ton, 1400 pounds of milk at 25c per hundred pounds, and were pastured 133 days at ⅛ cents per day, and followed cattle that were on full feed from October 1st to the close of the contest when the pigs were 209 days old and the litter of 14 weighed 3811 pounds or an average of 272 pounds each, with a total cost of feed of $91.49, and the pigs at 6½ cents per pound sold for $247.71. It is safe to say that this litter of pigs would have sold for breeding purposes to local buyers for almost double this amount.

Miss Barrett is a high school girl, also studies music. She was entered in the contest in North Dakota last year (1913) with a litter of grade Duroc Jersey pigs and won second.

This year (1914) she won first in a contest with 67 tabulated contestants, receiving $100.00 as first prize money, which amount together with waht the litter were worth netted her more money than a great many men made last year.
